Customer problem statement template

Problem	I am	I'm trying to	But	Because	Which makes me feel
PS-1	A student or beginner creator	Turn a story idea into a comic	I may not have drawing/layout skills	Illustration and comic composition take time	Frustrated and limited
PS-2	A casual storyteller	Create a personalized visual story	Manual panel creation is repetitive	Writing, art and layout are separate tasks	Less motivated to finish
PS-3	A teacher/content creator	Create visual stories quickly	Preparing consistent panels manually is slow	Each scene needs text and an image	Pressed for time

Primary problem statement

People who have a story idea need a simple way to turn that idea into a coherent, illustrated comic without separately writing every panel, creating every image, and arranging the final pages. ComicCraft addresses this by coordinating story structure, narration, illustration prompts, preview, and PDF export in one web application.

Root problem

The main barrier is not a lack of ideas; it is the effort required to translate an idea into multiple coordinated creative assets. ComicCraft reduces that coordination work while leaving the user in control of the story prompt, character, setting, tone, and art style.
